COVINA WINS FIRST PRIZE FOR PRODUCTS

THOUSANDS VISIT CITRUS PRODUCTS AT NATIONAL ORANGE SHOW.

One of the outstanding exhibits at the recent National Orange show, was that of the "Citrus Products That Are Different," manufactured in Covina by the Mohler Citrus Products Company, for which they were awarded the first prize in their class. Not only was the exhibit unusually attractive but the eager interest manifested particularly in the Covina products, by the thousands of visitors to the industrial pavilion, speaks volumes to the credit of this growing concern; for to gain more than passing notice at such an exhibition as this year's Orange Show proved to be, it necessarily follows that an article must possess unusual merit and value.

During the show thousands of visitors stopped each day before the Covina exhibit, and it is a modest estimate to place 20,000 as the total number who sampled these delicious orange preserves made in Covina, from oranges gathered from the Covina groves.

To top the success of the local factory's exhibit, the figures show that the throngs at the Orange Show purchased thousands of packages of the citrus preserves. So great was the demand on the local factory as to make it necessary to augment the regular working force considerably in order to meet immediate requirements. These packages for the most part were forwarded to all sections of the country, and in not a small number of cases direct to foreign placed some very attractive literature concerning Covina, furnished by the local chamber of commerce.

The products of this Covina factory are, truly, "different." They are delicious and are genuine to the very last grain put into them, for in their manufacture the entire orange—from center to the very surface—is utilized. The process of manufacture is a secret formula. By this secret process the preserves are made so as to prevent them from spoiling even though left on the shelves for many months. Yet always is the delectable orange flavor retained. It is an article that should have a world wide market and when its merit and value are made known to the consuming public it will require the output of a large plant to supply the demand.

Henry Brandon Will Open New Barber Parlors

Taking definite steps to improve their business with the introduction of modern equipment and up-to-date methods, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brandon, for many years proprietors of a successful barber shop and beauty parlor, have this week begun the remodeling of the upper floor of the building they own on Citrus avenue, and will move their establishment to the new quarters about April first.

Mr. Brandon said this week that the new shop will feature service to customers by appointment, applying the method of appointment to men as well as to the ladies. He believes this will be a popular feature with business men. He will maintain two chairs, with one reserved for appointments. Special attention is to be given to high class work. In the furnishing of the new shop more than $2,000 is to be expended. The old shop on the main floor is to be leased.

MAN ARRESTED AFTER PARKING NEAR ORCHARD

Deputy Constable Beardsley arrested Jesus Rentrana last Friday night on Lark Ellen boulevard for leaving his Ford car standing by the side of the road without lights for two hours. The officer attempted to have the car towed to a garage, when the owner appeared from a citrus orchard with wet leggings. He was given twenty-five days in the county jail.

HARRIS SELLS THEATER

Charles H. Harris of Covina, who has owned the Liberty theater in Azusa for the past six years has sold the equipment of that house this week. During his ownership a total of 840 pictures were shown at this theater. Mr. Harris said, some of them being first run pictures that appeared at this theater before being seen in the metropolitan area.

SIXTY SCHOOL GIRLS AT SENIOR HI-TRI MEETING

Miss Eva D. Edwards was the guest of honor and speaker at the regular Tuesday evening supper of the Senior Hi-Tri girls. After singing of school songs, supper, and business meeting, Miss Edwards talked to the girls for half an hour on practical welfare work, especially in rural schools, the talk being one of a group of vocational talks given during the school term. In illustration of the opportunities for constructive social and welfare work in a teacher's life, Miss Edwards told stories of her experiences in connection with the desert schools, when she was in charge of thirty-two as vice-county superintendent of San Bernardino. Miss Edwards promised to tell the girls at a later date about the work of the Y. W. C. A. overseas during the war.

Clubwomen Enjoy Musical Program by Sylvan Trio

A musical treat was given the members of the Woman's club Monday afternoon by the Sylvan trio, Cleo Rundel, violinist, Claudia Williams, pianist, and Lucie Warren, cellist. These young ladies, who play daily at the Hollywood Plaza hotel, gave the following program: "Song of Joy" (Ravina); "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" (Saint-Saens); "Valse Russe" (Tschaff); "In a Persian Market" (Hetterby); "Old Refrain" (Kreisl); "Dance of the Hours" (Ponchielli).

The other feature of the program was a clever play entitled "Please Pass the Cream," by Mrs. Emma Sprague and Mrs. M. E. Daugherty, members of the domestic section.

Mrs. Nelson Jessup gave an interesting report of the visit of the philanthropic committee to the county farm, the Whittier school for boys, and Pacific Colony, the latter a school for feeble-minded children, as guests of the probation committee.

In speaking of the Whittier school, Mrs. Jessup said in part:

"There are about 300 boys now in the institution, ranging in age from eight to sixteen years. They are brought first to the Receiving cottage, the only building on the ground having bars and bolts. Here they are given a thorough mental and physical examination, and are kept about a month under strict supervision. When the boys learn that what is being done for them is for their own good, most of them are quite willing to obey the rules, and do their part in the household."

"There are class-rooms where the boys attend school half day, and they do practical work the other half day. There is a printing shop, metal shop and wood shop where they make and repair furniture, and very soon the management expects to install tile-making, brick laying and welding. Almost all the furniture used in the school has been made in their own shops."

"There are several troupes of Boy Scouts here. They also have a fine orchestra. None of the boys in this orchestra has had more than two years musical training, but they certainly do credit to their leader."

"The aim of the school is to teach each boy to do some kind of work thoroughly before he leaves there."

Glendora Man Found Guilty of Fruit Theft

C. W. White of Glendora was found guilty Wednesday morning in the justice court of San Dimas on a charge of stealing oranges, the judge delaying the passing of the sentence until a later day.

White was arrested after Deputy Constable Walter Beardsley discovered his Chrysler sedan in Henry Damerel's orange orchard in Charter Oak, loaded with six barley sacks of oranges, the arrest being made by deputy sheriffs from the San Dimas sub-station. The owner failed to appear when arrested and claimed that he knew nothing of the manner in which his car was found in the orchard. The car was parked in Mr. Damerel's Valencia grove on one side of the street, the sacks being filled with navela from the grove on the opposite side of the road.

SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR VETERANS ORGANIZE CAMP

A number of veterans of the Spanish-American war from Covina, El Monte, Baldwin Park, Puente, Wilmar and Rosemead met in the office of the El Monte chamber of commerce Monday night and organized a new camp of the United Spanish War Veterans. The new organization will be known as the Santa Fe Trail camp, and El Monte has been chosen as the regular meeting place. Frank M. Colville was elected commander.

Tuesday night, March 27, was set as the tentative date for the institution of the camp and the installation of officers.

DR. BARKER IN ADDRESS TO ROTARY

COMMITTEE REVEALS FIGURES IN CANVASS THROUGHOUT CITY AND VALLEY

One of the most appreciated acts of Rotary service by the local club this year was the presentation on Wednesday of Dr. Charles E. Barker, who appeared before four audiences in the course of the day. The response given the man and his messages was all that could have been desired.

At 11 o'clock Dr. Barker addressed the high school students on "How to Make the Most Out of Life," proving to be one of the most interesting speakers ever appearing before the school. He paid his audience the compliment that he had never addressed a student-body more attentive and appreciative.

The banquet room of the Palace of Sweets was crowded at the luncheon hour to listen to his address on "By-Products of Rotary," where he drove home truths along business lines.

At 3 o'clock Dr. Barker spoke to another group at the high school, mothers and daughters, and at the close, on invitation from the speaker, the young women remained for a further message. Here, again, he touched on vital points in the home life and social life of his hearers, leaving deep impressions of the truths he pressed home.

To a crowd of fathers and sons, at 7:30 p.m., Dr. Barker again delivered an address.

Last Rites Held for Mrs. Bushling in Los Angeles

Beautiful services in memory of a character that left but love and respect in her passing, were held last Saturday afternoon at the Washington street funeral parlors in Los Angeles, for Mrs. Emma Bushling, mother of Mrs. Bert Heffner of Covina, with a casket draped with the American and the British flag and surrounded by a wealth of floral tributes.

Mrs. Bushling, who was 77 years old, died at her home 624 West Twenty-first street, Los Angeles, a week ago last Monday. She was born in London, England, and had spent her later years in the United States. The funeral was participated in by Past Worshipful Master Carl H. Von Breton of University Lodge, F. & A. M., assisted by President Alfred Pompey of the Sons of St. George. The flags on the casket were draped by Sergeant-Major Jack T. Smith, a Canadian veteran of the Boer war and the world-war. The service was read in a most impressive manner at the grave by F. St. Clair, chaplain of the Sons of St. George.

The pallbearers were her sons, Martin, Albert and Percy Bushling, her grandson, Fred Bushling, and two sons-in-law, Bert Heffner and George Kreis, Jr. Mrs. Bushling leaves seven children to mourn her, as well as ten grandchildren and two great grandchildren. She has been a widow for thirty-eight years.

An impressive feature of the service was the rendition of two hymns, "Lead Kindly Light," and "Nearer My God To Thee," sung by Harold Conaty, with Grace Gurlon at piano. The interment was made in Rosedale cemetery.

Marathon Race Will Make First Stop at Puente

Two hundred and fifty or more of the best runners in the world will start from Ascot Park, Los Angeles, Sunday afternoon on their 63-day trot from Los Angeles to New York. The race is being promoted by C. C. Pyle and "Red" Grange, and is attracting international attention, with representatives of many of the leading athletic clubs in the world in training for this great marathon.

After making a survey of the various routes available, Mr. Pyle and his assistants decided to make their first night stop at Puente. Through the co-operation of the Puente chamber of commerce, a suitable site has been provided. This tract of land is located near the intersection of Valley boulevard and Glendora boulevard, and on it will be erected mess tents and sleeping quarters for the runners.

Covina Cagers in Championship Tilt Tomorrow

The Covina high school basketball team will enter its second round in the playoffs for the southern California championship tomorrow, meeting Blythe at the Huntington Park gymnasium.

There is to be a sort of tournament of games played at this time, and the Covina-Blythe game is expected to be called about 3:30.

Blythe entered the second playoffs by defeating Hemet last week, while Covina two weeks ago nosed out Puente, San Gabriel valley league champs. It is felt that Covina has a good chance of beating Blythe and a number of Covina people are figuring on attending the game. The boys playing on the Covina team are: Wheeler, Jeyett, Knorr, Arnel, Duncan, and Chamberlain.

The baseball season was officially opened at the high school Wednesday afternoon, when the local boys met and defeated Lincoln of Los Angeles 10 to 1. Chamberlain held the visitors scoreless for the first eight innings, and registered thirteen strikeouts. Jewett caught.

Coach Newman thinks he has the material for a good baseball team this year. With Chamberlain pitching, all that is necessary for a winning team is to surround him with fairly good fielders. If Jewett can make good behind that bat, that will help, too.

Here Is What to Do When Your Radio Acts Up

If your radio sounds like a rock crusher when you turn it on for entertainment, there is a probability that the interference is being caused by something that should be remedied, and the Radio Trades association is ready to send out men from Los Angeles to look into the situation provided they have something definite upon which to work. For this purpose Harold R. Houser of the Radio Shop has questionnaires that may be filled out and turned over to the association.

Houser has a portable set with which to trace trouble, and it may be that he can handle the interference problem, but in case he cannot and he has a few questionnaires properly filled out, he can turn them over to the Radio Trades association and the matter will be fully investigated. There is no charge for this service and you may be doing yourself and neighbors a good turn by looking into the matter.

MEXICAN ARRESTED ON CHECK CHARGE

J. Martinez, picking foreman for the Irwindale Citrus association, was arrested this week on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Martinez, who was discovered, had received checks from the packing house drawn to J. Montes, the name under which the murdered man, Barbosa, had been going in this community. He has confessed to endorsing one or more of these checks and cashing them at stores in Irwindale and Azusa. For the murder of Barbosa, Benito and Jesus Flores and Juanita Jimenez have been taken into custody.

SAN GABRIEL ROCK PLANT COMPLETED

AN EQUIPMENT REPRESENTING $1,000,000, EXPENDITURE GOES INTO OPERATION

Representing a total investment of more than $1,000,000, the new crushing, washing and screening plant of California Materials, Inc., just completed and placed in operation on Irwindale avenue near Baldwin Park, is declared by engineering authorities to be one of the finest in the West for the production of clean, accurately graded aggregates. "Cal-Mat" rock products have been supplied for public-highway building and other major construction projects in Southern California over a period of fifteen years, according to John D. Gregg, general manager, and as the demand has steadily increased for better aggregates in greater quantities the output of this company has grown in proportion.

The new crushing plant has a capacity of approximately 6000 tons of rock products every ten hours, three times greater than the previous peak output of the company. Provision for the installation of additional equipment that will almost double the construction of the plant to permit of further expansion as the demand makes it necessary, Gregg pointed out.

The great process plant is almost automatic in operation. Systems of conveyor belts carry the material over several acres, and is a system declared to be the most modern possible.

The owners entertained a group of local citizens at a luncheon presided over by Ira E. Pontius, president of the Baldwin Park chamber of commerce. Speeches were made by representatives of the Pacific Electric railway, Adele Rogers St. John, whose novels and short stories are known throughout the country, was an honored guest. She is a personal friend of the Greggs, owning property near the Whittier plant of this organization.

Cigaret Causes Auto Accident on Boulevard

Kenneth G. Ormiston, widely known through his connection with the Almie Temple McPherson kidnapping case, was a reluctant visitor at the Covina hospital Thursday night of last week, where he and his companion, Seymour Hastings, were taken following an automobile accident on the Covina boulevard. He was driving the identical blue Chrysler coupe which figured so largely in the McPherson trial.

The accident occurred east of Lark Ellen boulevard, while the two men were en route to San Dimas to install a radio for Clyde Marshall. Ormiston was uninjured. Hastings suffered a deep wound in his arm from a splinter of glass when the car crashed over the curb. It is estimated that about three quarts of blood was lost, and an infusion of blood was necessary, a long distance call to Los Angeles bringing out assistance at once. The accident was caused by a trivial matter. Mr. Hastings knocked the ashes off his cigarette out of the door, a strong wind blowing them back and lodging them on the seat. Mr. Ormiston, who was driving, while attempting to brush the ashes off, lost control of the steering wheel.

Mr. Ormiston since returning to California has been the technical writer on radio subjects for "Radio Doings," leading publication of this character on the coast.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN OF THOMAS GRISWOLD

Incendiary fire about 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon destroyed a barn on the Thomas Griswold ranch, at the corner of Citrus and Cypress. A large number of men responded to the call of the fire siren, but the blaze was too large when discovered to be extinguished. Seven tons of hay and considerable farm equipment was burned. Two horses in a corral adjoining the barn had to be taken through the burning building to a place of safety. All signs showed that the blaze had been set in some hay in the rear of the building.

REGISTRATION

Registration of voters will close on March 9th, instead of March 3rd, as previously noted. The next election will occur on the second Monday in April, the 9th, and registrations cease 30 days prior thereto.

FUNERAL HELD FOR AGED WOMAN KILLED BY AUTO

Funeral services for Mrs. M. E. Tucker, aged lady killed in an automobile accident, were held Saturday afternoon at Custer & Christiansen's parlors, conducted by Rev. Russell E. Thrapp. Solos were sung by Mrs. Thrapp. Interment was at Oakdale cemetery.

Mrs. Tucker was born near New Albany, Indiana, in March, 1848, and would have celebrated her eightieth birthday within a few weeks. Surviving her are her son, William, with whom she resided, two sons in Indiana, and a daughter, Mrs. Lottie Sidenstricker, in Cincinnati, Ohio; also a granddaughter, Mrs. Morton Kelly, of San Bernardino, and four granddaughters and two grandsons in Indiana.

American Legion Second Annual Play Scores Hit

The second annual play, "Not So Fast," given by Howard T. Douglas post, American Legion of Covina, drew two large houses Friday and Saturday nights of last week at the Covina high school auditorium, and scored distinct success for this organization.

The play was staged and the cast trained by Anthony Schornagle, who lent his long experience in stage work to make it a smooth and fast-moving production. While every member of the cast was strictly non-professional, so far as the stage is concerned, the performance was far from being amateur, in the sense that the lines were spoken with fidelity, and the theme maintained throughout with no criticism possible of the rendition. This three-act comedy drama depended almost entirely on the ability of the cast to act, and in no sense on anything bordering on slapstick comedy. The situations were subtle, and were met admirably by every member.

"Not So Fast" is a simple story of two young girls and a college brother whose property was left by the father in the hands of two executors, or guardians. One guardian proves to be grasping and somewhat crooked, while the other is known more or less as a boob, but succeeds in fooling everybody by the manner in which he protects the property of the family. The story depends upon this theme of the clash of wits between the two men acting as executors, and who both are in love with one of the girls.

Frank Everett played the part of the dumb guardian who eventually fools them all, and G. Z. McClelland the part of the scheming executor whose machinations are foiled. These two characters were outstanding in ability. The part of the young college boy was taken by Robert Craddock, who threw a lot of carefree abandon into the lines and business, and succeeded in making the character vivid and true to life. His college chum, a part played by Harold Harrington, was equally good, and added to the movement of the play materially. Mrs. Mary Everett gave an excellent portrayal of the efforts of her executor to invest her property and make love to her at the same time, while the part of her sister was made scintillating and laughable by Mrs. Ora McClelland.

Much of the comedy was furnished through the manner in which Mrs. Volora Pummil played the part of the stockbroker's stenographer. She made this flapper character very natural, and received at least her share of the appreciation of the audience. The part of the maid in the household, while a small part, was well portrayed by Mamie Zug.

Overtures and between-the-act numbers were rendered by the Covina high school orchestra, under the direction of Milton Boucher. The work of this organization was gratifying, and a surprise to many who had not heard them, as they handled difficult numbers in a most creditable manner.

Of more than ordinary interest was the novelty dancing by little Evelyn Burall, a local girl, accompanied at piano by Mrs. Ruth Benton. Costumed beautifully, the little girl clogged and jigged and gave an exhibition of fancy stepping that is seldom seen off the strictly professional stage.

Proceeds of the play, which were announced to be most generous, are to be expended by the local post in carrying on welfare work among disabled veterans and their families, and also to outfit the American Legion drum corps, which has come to be a distinct feature of Legion activity in the valley.

LIONS HEAR SONGS

Guests at the Lions club at the Monday noon luncheon at the Stone Lantern were Rev. and Mrs. Russell E. Thrapp and Mrs. H. A. Worden. Mrs. Thrapp sang a group of songs, "Morning," "The Owl," and "Lindy Lou." Mr. O. W. Prescott also gave a violin solo.

CHURCH AND POPULATION CENSUS MADE

NOTED SPEAKER SCORES HIT IN SERIES OF TALKS BEFORE LOCAL BODIES

Following the plans outlined in last week's Argus, a civic and religious survey of the city of Covina and outlying community was made last Saturday afternoon. The survey was made under the combined direction of the Covina chamber of commerce and the religious bodies of the city. In this work, members of the student-body of the high school assisted.

The committee make the following report: The work of tabulation of all information sought has been a far more laborious task than we anticipated. The listing of all the various occupations, with the number in each, as well as the segregation of the individual church members, is as yet not completed.

Our report at this time will be partial, yet should give a basis for arriving at some of the main facts. The committee on districts found 1044 homes to be surveyed. Of these, 954 have reported a population of 3054. Eighty-five families are to be heard from, and allowing 3.2 persons per family, this adds 272 individuals. There were 140 individuals not accounted for in the above figures. These make a population of 3466 for the territory surveyed.

The vote on the community church was as follows:

Favoring	1512
Against	312
Non-committed	1542

Committee: V. R. Ross, H. Gordon, F. G. Paddock, W. Q. Custer, W. P. Nye, Waldo L. Smith.

Engineers View San Dimas Flood Control Projects

Viewing the completed flood control work of the Puddingstone dam, near San Dimas, and the related flood projects, including the diversion channel and diversion dam, over a hundred members of the American Society of Civil Engineers held a luncheon at the dam last Saturday noon, as the guests of E. C. Eaton, Los Angeles county chief flood control engineer.

The affair was presided over by Ralph E. Ware, secretary of the organization. The members spent several hours going over the three projects, the channel across the valley, the diversion dam at the mouth of the San Dimas canyon, and the Puddingstone reservoir. The dam has been completed for more than two months, and it was announced by Chief Engineer Eaton that another month will see the other projects ready to function.

Engineers declared at the luncheon that the San Dimas projects are among the most remarkable on the Pacific coast, and that the system is to be watched with interest by engineers everywhere. The run-off from the San Dimas canyon is diverted at a low dam below the larger flood control dam in the canyon, and taken across the valley for more than three miles to be emptied into the Puddingstone reservoir. The capacity of the Puddingstone reservoir is 20,000 acre feet, and is the most important conservation dam in the flood control system.

High School to Present Cantata at Eastertide

The "Seven Last Words of Christ," beautiful dramatic Easter cantata, by Dubois, is to be presented by the chorus and orchestra of the high school, Sunday evening, April 1, at the high school auditorium.

The production is under direction of Milton Boucher, who has directed it for the past several years in San Diego. When presented at the First Methodist church there it was given two Sundays in succession to a total of twenty-five hundred people.

The "Seven Last Words of Christ" takes up the events preceding the resurrection, so it is appropriately given before Easter. Pomona college presents the production every year, and many from Covina have attended it there.

Nearly everybody in Covina reads the Argus.

Miss Los Angeles Flirting Again—

Mayor Crier of Los Angeles is strong for a consolidated city and county government. He goes into the question at some length in his annual message to the people of the city of Los Angeles, a document which may have been inadvertently overlooked by the good and busy people of the Covina valley.

The way to make the lion lie down with the lamb was worked out some time ago through the simple process of the lion first eating the lamb. Los Angeles city is deserving of the highest praise as to its beauty and well high incredible development along all lines that include social, commercial and industrial endeavor. But not from the standpoint of civic government. The city has become the marvel of the west in spite of its politicians and the underworld, and not with their assistance.

If we happen not to be squeamish from the moral standpoint, there would still be that question of property assessment to give us pause. Also, those communities not incorporated and still in county territory do not seem to be suffering from a backward government. The county government is doing fairly well with a huge job.

Let Los Angeles, our big and beautiful sister, pay a little more attention to her political behavior before she begins to cast sheepseyes at the rest of the territory around her.

The Sovereign Voter—

Just as a matter of mild protest against a propaganda that persists to the point of irritation, we would like to declare that if a citizen doesn't want to register and vote, it is his own business, and his attitude has little to do with whether or not he is a good or bad citizen.

It is our opinion that men and women eligible to vote should do so if they feel themselves qualified to pass upon the questions confronting them at the polls. If they have any doubt on this point, they shouldn't vote. The cure of this situation lies in keeping posted on public affairs so far as is humanly possible in these days of complicated ballot questions. But to vote ignorantly is a greater menace than not to vote at all.

The propagandists say: Vote—no matter whether you are fully aware of the question at issue—register your opinion at the polls. Thousands of people have no opinion on many subjects that appear on the ballot. The thing to do in this case is to refrain from voting. One may go to the polls and vote on some questions or individuals and refrain from voting on others. This seems logical. And, if a citizen has no choice as to all of the questions on the ballot, and no party preference, may we not give him the privilege of staying away from the polls? May it not be that he is a better citizen than one who goes to the polls with a halter around his neck and votes because of his father's and grandfather's party preference, or because his boss happens to need his vote?

Speaking bluntly about this voting business, there is quite a lot of bunk in the propaganda. Without question, if there is a great and well defined issue at stake, the people will be found at the polls. It is a lack of real issues and a lack of clarity in issues that keeps a large number away from the privilege of the ballot box.

Hoover and the Citrus Industry—

When freight priorities occupied the attention of the whole country during the anxious days of 1917 and 1918, the Pacific coast, far out on the end of 4000 marketing miles, was torn between two strongly-fought points of view, both intensely patriotic views, but highly necessary that one should prevail.

Rolling stock was at a premium. The citizens were being urged to conserve food. Every human effort was being made to cut down the movement of freight of luxuries. Hoover, as food administrator, sent for G. Harold Powell, general manager of the California Fruit Growers Exchange, and placed him in his office as the head of the department of perishables.

Powerful pressure was brought to bear to exclude, or partially exclude, the shipping of citrus fruits from the Pacific coast. The citrus industry was faced with the possible loss of its share of rolling stock. Powell maintained that oranges and lemons were necessary to the health of the citizenry and the troops. There were days when this question was argued before committees. Patriotic men of large influence believed that citrus fruits could be dispensed with as luxuries.

Hoover, who had operated large crews of workmen in Powell's viewpoint—that fresh fruits were absolutely necessary to a balanced ration, and that citrus fruits had long been proven to be both nutritious and medicinal. He stood with Powell in his demand for the free movement of citrus fruits, and the Pacific coast citrus crop was marketed. Hoover's attitude on all public questions has always been broad. His vast and varied experience has provided him with a most fund of knowledge and has made him one of the most valuable public officials the country has afforded in any era.

Some Approved—

(Arcadia News): A lady got peeved at something she read in the News last week and came in and had her paper discontinued. She was nice enough about it, though. She didn't refuse it at the postoffice, which proves she had the courage to come in and tell us she didn't like the article. Every day we see things we don't like in papers, and even in shop windows. Now, for instance, yesterday we saw a pair of shoes in a window. We didn't like the looks of them and wouldn't wear a pair like them on a bet, but we didn't go into the store and tell the merchant we would not trade with her any more on account of those shoes. Later in the afternoon we passed the same store and noticed the owner taking the shoes out to sell them to a man who thought they were the very stuff. He liked them so well that he shelled out enough filthy lucre so that he might hide his ungainly toes in them and walk out among the people on Sunday. But getting back to the lady who didn't like the article in the News. On the same day she stopped her paper, nine others coughed up one dollar each and four of them remarked especially how well pleased they were with that particular issue of the paper. They had read the same article and liked it so well they decided they wanted the paper for a year. We are satisfied with the trade of one subscriber for four others, or maybe nine, as the fellow who traded an empty basket for a turkey.

Something to Think About—

(Hemet News): According to a news item which appeared recently in a California farm paper, officials in Kings county are having all roads named or numbered and farm entrances given a specific address.

We in the city name our streets and place signs at intersections with the names on them, and we also number our houses. The United States postal department demands that all this must be done before city delivery will be granted. It is not only a convenience to the postal employee, but to everyone. Imagine trying to find the home of John Smith in San Francisco or Los Angeles without the aid of a street number. And ask anyone who has tried to find the place of Farmer Jones, whose place is located on a side road in our back country, and he will tell you how hard a job it is. The task of giving specific addresses to ranches and farms would be simple and would cost practically nothing. The convenience to the public, including the rancher himself, would be great.

America Faces Greatest Era of Expansion With Hoover

J. L. MATTHEWS
Editor Covina Argus

Reconstruction follows every war. The nation showing the greatest resiliency takes the lead. America, not only has pieced together the broken threads of her own industrial and social fabric since the world war, but has reached out and aided in reconstruction in many places in the world. Reconstruction at home in the past decade has been intertwined with new construction—we have been building and expanding. The reconstruction era has merged into an era of construction on a huge scale from the Atlantic to the Pacific, but conservative citizens who are alive to the trend of events realize that we have begun the period that will be known in history as the expansion era, dwarfing every effort that we have made in the past.

This is not prophecy based on desire, but the inevitable trend of a great and homogeneous nation that has grown rich in resources, and will turn a part of its wealth into public improvement for the purpose of bringing further enrichment, security and comfort. That is the point where Herbert Hoover is to appear with full opportunities for leadership in this program of reconstruction, if we are to believe the earnest, able and patriotic men and women in all parts of the nation who advocate that he be supported as the Republican nominee for president.

DESTINY MAN-MADE

Napoleon intimated that Destiny was man-made. He became a great leader because he had spent half a lifetime preparing to win the battle of Marengo. Abraham Lincoln said: "I will study and prepare, and perhaps my time will come," which is one of the most poignantly wistful sentences in the English language. The granite hills of Vermont yield but reluctantly to the patient tiller. He expects much chaff and little wheat, making up the difference in unending labor, and this school produced Coolidge, inured to hardship and trained to turn small gains into eventual success.

And, at a time when America is emerging into wider plans, ready and equipped to build vaster and better, comes a trained builder and leader, a man to fit the time. That's what the thinkers say of Hoover, and as we scan his years of preparation and review his performances, the idea catches the imagination and grips it. Hoover, we say, is the man for the next eight years of national construction—the engineer, the unhurried calculator who projects his imagination through maps and graphs and blueprints that literally move mountains, span rivers, and whose intellectual intensity draws men of ability about him to prepare pathways of progress for the generations to come.

TRAINED LEADERSHIP

Washington, a trained surveyor and farmer, as well as a soldier, laid the foundations upon which the nation became an entity unto itself, bequeathing not only political freedom, which would have been of little value alone, but unrestricted opportunity, a reservoir of unlimited expansion for the worthy of all the world. Lincoln adhered to a principle that kept the nation an entity, saving and perpetuating that which the forefathers conceived. Coolidge re-created order that had been shattered by a world disaster, and Hoover, working with him, is eminently fitted, not only to carry on this work, but to provide wider and widening avenues upon which the American people may tread, and leading to a more desirable greatness, a continuity and unity of effort in the western hemisphere.

That is what the Hoover adherents declare. And does not this program quicken the imagination and point to a higher plane of patriotism than that which may have to do wholly with outworn partisan strife, with place and power as the goal sought, rather than the advancement of the nation itself?

DEEDS SPEAK FOR HIM

It is to the independent type of mind in the nation that Hoover's record of achievement appeals. The people will listen in vain for platitudinous emotionalism from this man. But his program visualized is more inspiring than oratory.

This great builder sees the nation intimately confronted by the need of more national highways, a plan that will link the coasts with fast motor transportation. He visualizes a program of waterway improvement that will tie into land transportation. He understands the necessity for practical conservation within the vast realms of public domain, the further protection and improvement of our national parks. Alaska cries out for the hand of a master engineer to make that land of potential wealth a greater asset to the nation.

War is tragedy. Reconstruction as war's aftermath is dogged duty calling for exceptional leadership and caution. National expansion is industrial drama, and under the leadership of Herbert Hoover can transcend in importance any era of the nation's splendid past.

Pioneer Woman Laid to Rest at Azusa Last Week

The death of Sarah Jane Glover, mother of C. O. Glover of Covina, occurred February 21, 1928, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. M. R. Randall of Azusa, where she had resided for the past three years. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon, at the Methodist Episcopal church of Azusa, Rev. Charles J. Johnson, pastor, officiating. The pall bearers were four sons, Chas. O. Glover of Covina, C. S. Glover, Strathmore, California, John M. Glover, Home Gardens, and George E. Glover, Long Beach. Interment was in Oakdale cemetery, beside the husband who died several years ago. Other relatives surviving are a brother, and a sister, George W. Barnes, and Mrs. M. E. Saylor, of Santa Ana, fifteen grandchildren, ten great grandchildren and many nephews and nieces.

Sarah Jane Barnes was born near Vergennes, Vt., July 23, 1839, accompanying her parents, when a child of three years to Lawrence county, N. Y., later to Fitchville, Huron county, Ohio, and again in Montecello, Indiana, where she grew to womanhood. She was married to George W. Glover on September 15, 1862, and to this union eight children were born, the four sons and one daughter surviving.

Mr. and Mrs. Glover were pioneers in the early days of Kansas, enduring many frontier hardships and privations, yet making many lasting friendships. On account of troublesome times with the Indians, they remained at Atkinson, Kansas, during the summer of 1863, then went to Mr. Glover's 160-acre claim on the Republican river, which had been under improvement for five years, only to find it destroyed by fire. In May, 1870, a move was made to Clyde, Kansas, where they resided until 1889, when the overland journey to California was undertaken. Six months was spent en route, which they considered a source of pleasure and education.

Mr. and Mrs. Glover located near Azusa in February, 1890, where their remaining days have been spent.

Deceased was a Christian woman, a daily student of her Bible, having committed much of it to memory. She was a church member for eighty years of her life, greatly beloved by her family and a large circle of friends.

REGIONAL CONFERENCE FOR WHITE-RIBBONERS

An all-day regional conference next Friday, March 9, will bring scores of loyal white-ribboners from twelve of the surrounding towns and cities to meet at the Presbyterian church under the direction of the county officers, the objective being a clearer understanding of the political crisis.

Rev. Helen L. Byrnes, national field secretary, but a Los Angeles young woman who has won national recognition for her constructive work with the young people, will be the leader, assisted by prominent county workers, including Mrs. Hattie M. Doughty, Mrs. Lily Richardson, Mrs. J. Victoria Bannister, Dr. M. Len Hutchins, and Miss Anna Bannister.

The day and evening program includes an open forum, practical political discussions, and two playlets, one in the afternoon and the second in the evening. The subject of the afternoon playlet, given by the county officers, is "Prohibition Is the Best Method," and that of the evening will be "My Place, Your Place, Any Place."

Basket luncheon will be served at noon when Miss Byrnes will be the guest of honor for the general topic, "Pert Points on Political Propaganda." An invitation is extended to all women from all local clubs, lodges, and organizations to attend this open discussion of practical politics. The first session will start at 10 a.m.

ART STUDENTS VISIT EXHIBIT IN PASADENA

A group of Covina art enthusiasts found the exhibit held Friday at the Grace Nicholson gallery in Pasadena very interesting. The works on exhibition were those of Naaron Kilpatrick, John O'Shea, and I. Maynard Curtis, and mostly of California scenery. These artists were present themselves to make their works more interesting. In the party that spent Friday in the gallery were Mrs. J. L. Carter, Mrs. McClain, Mrs. J. C. Pearson, Mrs. C. P. Colver, Mrs. J. N. Wilson, and Mrs. A. R. Taylor.

COVINA DEBATING TEAMS WIN, LOSE FROM PUENTE

Covina high school met Puente on Thursday of last week in the second round of league debates. The question debated was: "Resolved that trial by jury should be abolished in the United States." Helen Boynton and Eddie Insley upheld the affirmative at Covina, while McLaren Forbes and Dick Webb took the negative at Puente. The affirmative team won 3-0, and the negative lost 2-1. Mr. McClelland coached Covina's teams.

MERCHANTS GOOD-WILL DINNER MEETING TONIGHT

Following the policy formally ratified and adopted by the board of control of the Glendora chamber of commerce, and the decision reached by the members of the merchants division at their last meeting, a strenuous effort is being made to bring about closer co-operation between the cities of Azusa and Glendora, for the benefit of both.

With this program in mind the Glendora merchants have extended to the business men of Azusa an invitation to attend a "Good-Will" dinner meeting to be held at the Glendora Foothills Park Hotel tonight, Friday evening, March 2, at 7 o'clock. The business men of Azusa are asked to come to the meeting as the guests of the Glendora merchants, and the indications are that there will be a large attendance.

It has been repeatedly pointed out that a closer relationship between the two cities would be highly advantageous to both and plans have been under consideration for some time to launch a movement for the double purpose of improving business conditions and giving the business men of the two cities an opportunity to get better acquainted personally and know one another better.

FUNERAL IS HELD FOR BENJAMIN CARL

Funeral services were held for Benjamin F. Carl on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in Custer & Christensen's undertaking parlors, conducted by Rev. George Steed of the Methodist church. Mrs. Charlotte Naftel sang several favorite hymns of the deceased. The casket was surrounded with a mass of floral tributes from the friends of the deceased. Interment was at Oakdale cemetery.

Decensed was born in Wayne county, New York, December 2, 1853. When seventeen years of age he moved to Minnesota with his parents, where his father invested heavily in farm lands. He married his surviving wife, Etta Field, and went to reside in Michigan, and seven years later was called back to his home town to administer the estate of his father.

In 1912 Mr. and Mrs. Carl came to California, settling in Covina. One daughter, Mrs. G. W. Clemeat, resides in Detroit.

THORKELONS ENTERTAIN ALHAMBRA AUDITORIUM

One of the most delightful affairs of the past week was the buffet supper and evening of cards and dancing given by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thorke on Saturday at their home on Hollenbeck street. The party was the anniversary of the Alhambra club of Alhambra. The club colors, lavender and gold, were used in all the decorations, baskets of lavender, stocks, pansies and violets, with yellow anemias and marigolds being used in profusion.

Prizes were given for the best slogan for the club, and for high scores in the five hundred and bridge. The guests included Messrs. and Mrs. F. S. Holtkamp of Glendale, J. S. Chambers, Merritt Betters, Glen Kite, J. W. Henderson, R. H. Breckenridge, Phillip Arrita, S. A. Noel, Wesley Foel and W. H. Goff of Alhambra, Presley E. Moore of Maywood, A. M. Geibel of Glendale, F. C. Huxley, S. W. Merritt of Pasadena, Mrs. Jean Beckman, Culver City, and Miss Mildred Shaw of Los Angeles.

The cast of the big professional numbers nearly 1000 persons, headed by the Chinese beauty, "Lola Lee Chong." The procession at the opening of the spectacle, entitled "The Parade of Gold," is claimed by the management to be the most lavish procession ever seen. Many other new features have been added to the circus, and numerous foreign performers have been secured in a new program of thrilling acts.

METHODIST GIRLS PLAN SUPPER AND PROGRAM

The girls of the Standard Bearer Queen Esther society of the Methodist church are planning a big time for Monday night, from 5 to 8. A large number of girls from surrounding towns have been invited. Supper will be served, after which a good program will be given.

Miss Sallie May Smith, missionary to Burma, and now home on furlough, will be the speaker. A shower of colored handkerchiefs will be given her for her school in Burma.

ANOTHER GRUB STAKE

—And a can of Ghirardelli's chocolate, and that's all the basket will hold! Georgia Hale, Tiffany Stahl star, who made herself famous as Charlie Chaplin's leading lady in "The Gold Rush," is attending to a somewhat more luxurious grub stake, with the assistance of Mr. Brock, at the Piggly Wiggly store in Beverly Hills.

Miss Hale is another of the film stars who have responded to the unusual and economical method of marketing introduced by the Piggly Wiggly Western States company. It's a lark, she says, from the moment you push your way through the stile and let yourself go among the rows of neatly shelved goodies. When you stagger out again, through the stile, and unload your basket, you suddenly realize that you've thought of a lot of unusual dishes that never occur to you, when you order by telephone, or simply by list, at the counter.

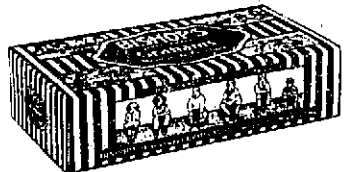

"The fruit and vegetable counters are always so inviting, too," said Miss Hale, as she added a bunch of golden carrots, scrubbed until they shone, and a couple of smooth green avocados.

The Beverly Hills market is representative of the entire chain of well-kept, completely-stocked and ably managed Piggly Wiggly stores that are scattered all over the country.

"I'll say it has power —and Westinghouse Brakes have everything stopped for stopping"

This is immediately evident when you examine the car—doubly evident when you try a drive.

Chandler is the first American automobile to adopt Westinghouse Vacuum Brakes—and is, therefore, America's easiest and safest car to control at any speed. A light touch on the brake pedal—lighter than you use on the starter button—brings Chandler to a quick "cushioned" stop.

"Touch-and-stop" brakes . . . and "touch-and-go" power!

The new Big Six by Chandler takes on other sixes anywhere it meets them—and merrily outsteps them and in the same spirit Chandler's new Royal Eight is always ready to show its heels to other eights.

For Chandler has added still bigger reserves of power in its Pikes Peak Motor.

Another big point in Chandler's favor is its "One Shot" centralized lubricating system. Press a plunger and the chassis instantly lubricates itself.

And with all these superiorities, today's Chandler is by far the most beautiful and luxurious Chandler ever built.

Thirty magnificent new models—$995 to $2195, f. o. b. factory. Come see. Come drive. Compare!

OVER MILLION CARS IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Southern California has passed the million mark in motor vehicle registrations, with 1,001,000, according to a statement of total fee registrations for the full year of 1927 compiled by the state division of motor vehicles. This places the thirteen southern counties in the motoring ranks of Illinois, Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania and Texas each of these states having a million or more registrations.

The state as a whole ranks second in the union with 1,736,765 registrations, so that nearly 58 per cent of the total cars are in the thirteen southern counties.

Taking Place in the Furniture Business.

Here is our special "101" diningroom suite, a five-ply walnut, hand-rubbed lacquer finish, eight-foot table, five side chairs, one arm chair. Table seats ten people. A remarkable buy.

Metropolitan stores no longer control high grade lines in the Southern California area.

This is not merely an off-hand statement—it is a genuine fact easily proved. That's what we want to do—to prove it to your right on our store floor, where this splendid showing will be convincing.

We would like you to see the very beautiful line of bedroom suites in antique wax finish, just in this week.

Not only can Scofield's duplicate stocks and undersell the largest stores, but we are in a position to sell exact counterparts of mail-order furniture for less money than the mail-order houses price them. In addition, we pay the freight and put the furniture in excellent condition in your home. Get prices from us.
